ISI INC. INVITED TO PRESENT A HOMELAND SECURITY - TERRORISM WORKSHOP FOR THE 2009 TEXAS POLICE ASSOCIATION CONFERENCE

HOUSTON, TEXAS (June 4, 2009) – ISI, INC., a leading provider of advanced tactical training, has been invited to present a workshop on Homeland Security and Terrorism at the 2009 Texas Police Association (TPA) Annual Training Conference in Corpus Christi, Texas. The four-hour workshop will be conducted on June 9, 2009 by Hanan Yadin, an Anti-Terrorism expert and President of ISI.

“Last week, a home grown self-proclaimed radical Islamist gunned down two soldiers at a military recruiting center in Little Rock, Ark. This event highlights the need for law enforcement not to become complacent about the threat of terrorism and homeland security” said Hanan Yadin, President. “Our workshop will give officers a better understanding of the mindset, motives and tactics of radical Islamic terrorists. It is vital for law enforcement to know the cultural and religious implications that drive these shooters as last week’s event shows they can be encountered in smaller cities as well as large urban areas.”

Other presenters at the conference include the FBI, DEA and ICE speaking on topics ranging from border protection to gang violence. “The theme of the conference is the future leadership challenges for the TPA and today’s world law enforcement faces far greater challenges than ever before from a number of fronts. Officers must be ready to respond to an ever growing variety of threats and old tactics will not work anymore,” said Yadin. “That’s why ISI is focused on new combat-oriented techniques so that first responders will be prepared to succeed in high-stress hostile conditions.”
